

Sacajawea Fact Sheet

WELCOME TO CAMP!

GSCSNJ staff hopes you enjoy your stay while having a positive experience in the outdoors with the girls.

If you have any problems while at camp, please contact the Ranger. He has the authority to make decisions on the safe and appropriate use of camp.

WHO SHOULD BE AT CAMP?

Each troop going camping must have:

- An adult who has completed Outdoor Skills training.
- An adult currently certified First Aid/CPR
- Any suspected intruders should be reported to the Ranger. All user groups / camper should be aware of their surroundings at all times.

Sacajawea has facilities for swimming, canoeing, and archery. Each of these activities requires advance reservations so a certified instructor can be scheduled.

Catch and release fishing is allowed at the lake.

Communities using the dining hall kitchen need kitchen orientation.

ABOUT THE CAMP

Lynwood Lord gave the property to the Girl Scouts in 1950. Swimming at resident camp took place in Cedar Lake, which previously was the retention pond for harvesting cranberries, until 1972 when the Lyle Hamilton Memorial swimming pool was built. The beachfront was named for Mr. Lord. The dining hall is named for Larry Somers.

In 1992, the playground in center camp was dedicated to Alice Burnett, the executive director of Gloucester County Girl Scout Council. Coincidentally the camp's 50th Anniversary celebration paralleled the release of the US Sacajawea dollar. Sacajawea, of the Shoshoni people, served as the guide and interpreter for Lewis and Clark's expedition.
